Two Southport fires

West Sacramento firefighters responded on Jan. 24 to a five-car accident at the intersection of Alameda Street and Virginia Avenue.

One injury was reported -- the patient was taken away by ambulance -- and "damage was done to several trees, yards and vehicles," reports the Fire Department.

Gales runs for WUSD

News-Ledger continues its series of interviews of candidates in election of a new school board member

KATHERINE GALES
Believes school board members need to research the issues

What can Katherine Gales bring to the local school board?

"At the top of the list is research," she answered. "That's what I do first if I don't know something. I'm going to learn about it, especially if I'm going to be held responsible for making a decision about it. I'll take my experience and I might take other persons' opinions, but I'm going to go to the Internet and I'm going to Google it, and I'm going to find out exactly what it is."

Gales, 50, told the News-Ledger that doing the background work is a key part of a school board member's job.

"It's important for the school board member to understand what's going on in that area, so they can make a decision," she explained. "You have to be up on current events. . . and you can be affected by anything coming into the district. If I don't know about a certain community, it's my obligation to get a good understanding or recuse myself from decision-making in that area."

Gales has been working for the state Department of Education since 1997. She is now an executive assistant at the downtown Sacramento office. She serves as a "branch level office manager," she said.

Gales said that one reason she took the job was to figure out why different schools taught different ways – a realization that came from comparing her own education at an "old school" in the Monterey area to her daughter's campuses in Natomas and New York.

Gales grew up in an Army family and moved around, but she went to high school in Monterey, at a campus with large classrooms that were well equipped for science, home economics and so forth.

"When (my daughter) got into junior high, it was different from what I experienced in junior high," said Gales. "That made me get even more involved. . . In home economics, we had kitchens in our classrooms. . . I compared that to my daughter's school (in Sacramento), and they had portables."

Working into her adulthood, Gales earned a pair of degrees from the University of Phoenix.

"I have a bachelor's in business management and a masters in management," she reported.

She did not marry her daughter's father, but both parents were involved in the now-grown daughter's life. For the past three years, Gales has lived in West Sacramento with her daughter and her seven-year old grandson, who attends school in Washington Unified School District. Gales also has several nieces and nephews in town, also going to West Sacramento public schools.

She's running against four other candidates for one available spot on the ballot for school board, in a special election March 5.

How does she think the current school board is doing?

"I've attended the local school board meetings since December," Gales answered. "They seem to work fine. Over two or three meetings, I think they're working through what they need to do. As far as what I saw, they're doing pretty much what they need to do and what I would do. I don't know what goes on in closed session."

How good is the local district?

"They're about as good as they can be at this time, but

Urban Forest Manager
City of West Sacramento

"It comes in waves," reports Dena Kirtley, the City of West Sacramento's urban forest manager. "It has probably been about three years."

But now, they're back:

"About a month ago, one of my crew noticed some trees that he thought were chopped down with an axe. On further inspection, we discovered it had been beavers."

The animals have been active "for probably six or eight weeks" in the Bridgeway Lakes area of Southport, chopping down trees. Their preferred species is willow. The animals – perhaps a family – probably came in from the Sacramento River.

"There's a canal that belongs to Reclamation District 900, just east of Otis Road, south of Marshall," said Kirtley, who is managing the city's response. "That's pretty much where Bridgeway Lakes begins. That canal runs under the road."

"They've taken out several trees at Cherokee in Bridgeway Lakes, and gone around the corner behind some houses and taken out some more."

Why do the beavers want to gnaw down willow trees in particular?

"They eat the bark and leaves off the portion that falls into the lake," answered Kirtley. "Their intent is to make the trees reachable so they can get to the bark and leaves."

The felled trees aren't immediately being removed by the city.

"We leave the trees where they are, so the beavers don't down more trees," said Kirtley.

You might call that an official policy of "Leave it to Beaver."

If the animals can't get at willow trees, they will settle for other species, like live oak, she added.

How many animals are there?

"We're hoping less than 10," she said. "They move in from the river through the ag canals. It's like a little highway."

So far, there has been no problem with beaver dams as a threat to drainage.

The city's response to the beaver infestation was to show the state Department of Fish and Game that it was taking adequate tree-protection measures, and then get a permit to hire a trapper. Parks workers have tried to protect over 100 area trees with chicken wire – a questionable strategy, allowed Kirtley, because the beavers can always just "move on down the line" to unprotected trees.

A trapper has thus far caught five of the animals. When pressed, Kirtley admitted delicately that

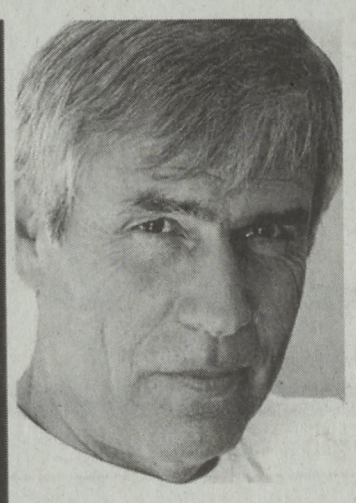
I may be old, but at least I have indoor plumbing



My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

This past weekend, I was playing around on my computer when my daughter suddenly forwarded me a really cute cartoon and caption with the caveat, "If you're wondering just how old you're getting, Dad, you can get a pretty good idea by looking at this cartoon. If you `get it', then the person who forwarded it to me says that means you're at least 60!"

In the cartoon, two men wearing astronaut suits and helmets are on the moon and bending down over what appears to be the lifeless body of a middle-aged woman laying on her back with her arms spread out, much like a professional prize fighter looks when he has been knocked out. And the cartoon caption read: "I think it's Alice Kramden."

Unfortunately, I immediately "got it", remembering how on the old Honeymooners TV show Jackie Gleason used to always hold up his fist and tell his long suffering wife, `One of these days, Alice, you're going to get it – pow – right to the moon!'. And I then of course spent the next few hours reflecting on just how darn old I'm getting! I mean, how did all the years go by so fast?

"You're not getting old, Dad," my daughter tried to reassure me later that evening on the phone. "Haven't you read that the new 50 is the old 40, and the new 60 is the old 50, and the new 70 is the old 60?"

"What in the world does that mean?"

"It means that because of all the new medical and nutritional and physical fitness advances, we're all really at least 10 years younger than we think we are."

"Well," I said, "I sure don't feel ten years younger than I really am."

"That's probably because you spend too much of your time thinking, talking and writing about the past."

"But that's what all of us old people do!" I tried to explain. "Plus for the most part, the past was a great time – much better than today – that's for sure."

"No, it wasn't."

"Yes it was."

"You just think it was, Dad, but in reality, today is always better than yesterday."

"That's a myth!"

"No it isn't. Every generation is always better off than the one that came before it."

"Now how can you say that?" I demanded to know. "For instance, in the not-so-distant past, it took only one income to support a family -- now it takes two; in the past, most people lived in small towns and actually knew their neighbors -- now most people are crowded into big cities and their neighbors are too scary to know; in the past, if you were sick, your doctor would see you immediately and even come to your house – now you're lucky if you can get one of the office nurses to examine you the same week; in the past, there were politicians who could actually inspire you – now most of them make you want to gag; and in the past, gas was twenty-five cents a gallon and there was still snow at the north and south poles!"

"Dad," gently explained my daughter, "you're just doing what all people your age do. You're wishing you were young again. Now that's perfectly normal and understandable, but what you really need to do is just chill out and enjoy all these extra years that modern science is going to give you. For instance, did you know that back in the 1950s, twenty-five percent of Americans didn't even have indoor plumbing – they had smelly old outhouses instead of toilets. Now you don't want to go back to those days, do you?"

"Believe me," I assured my daughter, "I would gladly trade in my toilet for an outhouse if gas was still twenty-five cents a gallon!"

As our phone conversation continued, my daughter suddenly asked me, "So, what is the one thing you really dislike most about the present?"

"You mean other than Fox News?"

"Yes, other than that."

I gave my daughter's question a few moments thought and then said with conviction, "Reality TV shows!"

"Reality TV shows?"

"That's right. I hate those things! I already have plenty of reality in my own life and when I sit down in front of the television set, I don't want to know all the yucky details about everyone else's problems. But to tell you the truth, reality TV is just the tip of the iceberg. Have you noticed how they've made just about every single show into some kind of contest? Everything is about winning and losing, and who is going to get kicked off the show this week. Whatever happened to real entertainment? I mean, there was a time not all that long ago when really good drama and comedy and variety shows used to be on TV."

"Like what?"

"Well, like Gunsmoke, and The Fugitive, and I Love Lucy, and Leave It To Beaver, and the Ed Sullivan Show, and...."

"Sorry, Dad, but I gotta be going," suddenly interrupted my daughter, obviously not interested in another one of my lengthy strolls down memory lane. "But don't forget, you're only as old as you think you are. And if you really want to start feeling younger, stop watching all those late night black and white movies where everyone is still wearing a hat!"

In the not-so-distant past, it took only one income to support a family -- now it takes two; in the past, most people lived in small towns and actually knew their neighbors, and, if you were sick, your doctor would see you immediately and even come to your house.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered 5 feet 1 inch, United States gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. This is a low stage of the river for this time of the year, but nevertheless farmers of this district are rejoicing over 65-100 of an inch of rain that fell since last Saturday. While crops in West Sacramento were not suffering to any marked degree, the rain helped grain materially. Grain was just beginning to turn a light brown, indicating that moisture was very badly needed. The precipitation that came since last Saturday has put new growth into everything in the West Sacramento District, the Holland District and the River District as far north as Elkhorn. Now nobody need fear for the future in the reclamation districts along the river. Word from Woodland indicates that the entire county is now in splendid condition with a rainfall to date of 8.05 inches.

M. R. Holmes and family have left West Sacramento to make their future home in Sacramento.

S. N. Slater, a prominent hop grower of the West Sacramento District, has been confined to his home during the past week and was under the care of physicians. Yesterday his condition was reported somewhat improved but he is still confined to his home.

Mrs. George B. Borchers is recovering in a Sacramento hospital from a case of blood poison which was brought on by a scratch of a chicken bone she was cleaning and which was located at the base of her thumb. It was necessary for her surgeons to take drastic steps to prevent a spread of the poison and several large gashes were made in her hand and arm to relieve the inflammation. She will be out of the hospital in a few days.

The school trustees of Washington will decide this afternoon when the Easter vacation will start and finish. In all probability the children will be given all of the week prior to Easter Sunday, which is on April 20th, but will likely return on Monday April 21st.

Another victim of dope was convicted and sent to jail last Wednesday by Judge Barry under the charge of vagrancy. Jean Foster, a colored woman of the sixteenth extraction as she claimed to be, was arrested by Constable Buckingham on Sunday and placed under bail of $50. When she appeared before Judge Barry she pleaded guilty and was sent to jail for 60 days in Woodland. Previously she had been a resident of Monroe's bastile and her record mitigated against her.

The Beale store is undergoing a thorough renovating under the efficient hands of Frank Beale. A new coat of paint is being placed all over the inside of the building and rearrangement of the counters and showcases has been tastily made. George Beale told the Independent yesterday that this renovation was only a start of what he expects to do and for the coming summer will have a store for his customers not beaten by anything of its kind in Sacramento.

J. N. Peterson is the proud possessor of a new Willys-Knight automobile which was delivered to him last Saturday. Peterson was not satisfied to get a touring car. He purchased a sport and is naturally proud of his new acquisition. His brother-in-law, Ed Moss, both living in the same house, too, is the owner of a Dodge roadster, so from now on Mrs. Moss, with whom the two young men make their home, will not be short of a ride at any time.

Considerable improvement has been made on the Reed property on Second street, between Anne and Harriet streets. The sidewalk has been raised at least fifteen inches, which was badly needed, especially in rainy weather. The Independent found fault with the sidewalk on many occasions and now congratulates Mr. Reed on his progressiveness.

A. Bonnetti met with an unfortunate accident last Wednesday night when a Ford kicked back and broke his arm very badly. The damage was so serious that he was taken to a hospital in Sacramento for emergency treatment.

A hydroelectric project now under consideration contemplates the sending of power by wire from Isle Maligne on the Saguenay River in Canada, a distance of 550 miles, into New York City. It is believed that 2,000,000 horsepower will be developed here.

MANDAMUS PROCEEDINGS INVOKED BY MRS. LIZZIE H. GLIDE AGAINST TRUSTEES OF THE WEST SACRAMENTO DISTRICT

A dispatch from Woodland dated March 22 carries the information that Mrs. Lizzie Glide brought mandamus proceedings against the trustees of Reclamation District 900 to recover $4,307.05 carried in warrants issued to her.

The dispatch reads:

"Lizzie H. Glide sued out a writ of mandate through Superior Judge W. A. Anderson yesterday, against Reclamation District No. 900 located in Yolo County and its trustees, A. F. Turner, Sam Harbinson and J. Peltier, to force the latter to provide means whereby the district can pay a number of large warrants issued in her favor. The writ is returnable on April 14, in the superior court of this county.

"The petition for the writ prepared on behalf of the petitioner by Attorneys Arthur C. Huston, Sr., and Harry L. Huston, alleged that along in 1918 and at various dates thereafter warrants were issued to Mrs. Glide aggregating a total of $4,307.05. None of these have been paid although demand has been made.

"The trustees stated that there was not money available to meet the warrants. Now the petitioner asks the Yolo superior court to so finance the district that she can cash her four warrants. The hearing will determine whether or not the court will mandamus the trustees of the well known district to force the issue of payment of the claims."

A. F. Turner, in speaking to the Independent yesterday, said:

"The trustees have already levied assessment number three on the valuation assessment lists in order that these warrants might be paid.

"This levy was made on February 28 and the funds will be available on April 28.

"Already the assessment rolls of the district have been filed with County Treasurer Roy Cole on March 25, and when the taxes have been collected within the next thirty days funds will be coming in to pay the four warrants of Mrs. Glide.

"These warrants were issued a long time before the present trustees took office but Mrs. Glide made no attempt to collect them.

"Possibly Mrs. Glide is not aware of the fact that assessments had already been levied in order that her warrants and other warrants might be paid."

EVERYBODY HAPPY, RAIN FALLING, PUMPS ARE THROWING MUCH WATER

Farmers of West Sacramento district are rejoicing in the fact that they are now in anticipation of splendid crops throughout the district.

The river pump still continues to throw a 24-inch stream of water for 12 hours of each day.

As a consequence all the canals of the district are raising and subirrigation will be the order from now on.

On April 1 the intake pump at the eastern end of the Yolo Causeway will be placed at work pumping from the dredger cut outside the district. This pump delivers its water to the western canal and a great part of it reaches Washington Lake, which is more or less a reservoir that can be used during the summer.

Nobody has been hurt by the drought that existed up to last Saturday, but some grain growers had good right to be fearful for already their crops were beginning to turn a light brown.

HOOD WOMAN HELD ON TWO CHARGES IN FIRE CASE

Mrs. Abbie Thompson of Hood was held to answer to the superior court late yesterday by Justice of the Peace Charles E. Bunnell of Courtland on two charges, one of arson and another of making a false insurance claim. Her husband, James Thompson, was discharged. He was charged with arson.

Mrs. Thompson's arrest is the result of a fire which destroyed the home of C. L. Bloom near Hood several weeks ago. Mrs. Thompson had some furniture stored in the house. She is at liberty on a $2,500 bond pending her arraignment in the superior court.

Deputy District Attorney W. A. Green conducted the hearing.

DE SANTOS LECTURED BY JUDGE

Woodland, March 24.—Leondini De Santos, 15-year-old boy who resides in Washington, was before the Juvenile Court here today on a charge of violating the state game laws.

Deputy State Game Warden R. E. Ludlum testified that the boy made a practice of shooting geese. The lad stated that he went hunting with his brother and an older man, but did not know they went to shoot geese. It was learned that the two men referred to were each fined $50 in Justice Jerome D. Barry's court in Washington. Judge W. A. Anderson gave the boy a severe lecture, advising him of the game laws, and gave him another chance.

MAN ACCUSED OF STATUTORY OFFENSE

Courtland, March 26.—John Roque Nova of Courtland was arrested last night by Deputy Sheriff A. D. Stark on a complaint accusing him of a statutory offense against a 15-year-old girl living on the Seven Mile Slough. Nova was held in the county jail at Sacramento today in default of $10,000 bond.

RECLAMATION TRUSTEES MET LAST NIGHT

The reclamation trustees of District 900, or West Sacramento, met at the headquarters in the district last night. The object of the meeting was to decide on a method of refunding the two issues of bonds now held over the district.

The decision arrived at could not be secured by this paper before going to press, but will be published in the next issue of the Independent.

SCHOOL TRUSTEE ELECTION THIS AFTERNOON IN SCHOOL BUILDING

Too late for the Independent to get the returns, an election was held in the public school building this afternoon to return a school trustee for the coming year.

Since the resignation of Mrs. Belle Parkinson several months ago, Peter McGregor has been filling the position, having been appointed by the county superintendent of schools.

He was a candidate to succeed himself, but so far as is known he had no opposition, although a few weeks ago it was announced that Mrs. J. McNevin would likely be a candidate.

McGregor fitted into the vacancy in nice shape on the resignation of Mrs. Parkinson, and his interest in the school is guaranteed by the amount of property he owns in the town.

DRASTIC ORDINANCE AGAINST BIRDS AND DOGS IS PASSED

Yolo County supervisors called a number of leading stockmen into conference at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to discuss the local situation as regards the prevalence of foot and mouth disease in other parts of the state, and as an outcome of the discussion they at once passed an emergency ordinace providing against the bringing into the county or unloading here from cars of any bird or animal. This is one of the most rigid of quarantine regulations, but local sentiment as expressed at the conference is that such drastic action is necessary.

COURTLAND WOMAN SAYS HUSBAND REFUSES TO WORK; GETS A DIVORCE

Superior Judge Peter J. Shields late yesterday granted a decree of divorce to Mrs. Georgia F. Dean of Courtland from Nelson E. Dean, when she testified that her husband failed to support her and her child, and that often she was compelled to support him.

The decree was granted by Judge Shields on the ground of failure to provide and cruelty. Mrs. Dean said her husband was without work for long periods, and that he was disagreeable. She was corroborated by her mother, Mrs. J. Green, also of Courtland.

HOFFMAN TO ASK FOR NEW HEARING

Woodland, March 24.—Ancil Hoffman today filed notice of motion for a new trial of his damage suit against Henry and T. S. Glide, brothers. A jury last week dismissed the action against Henry Glide and rendered a verdict in favor of Thornton Glide.

Hoffman claims that a crop was damaged by cattle belonging to the Glides.

$500 FINE IS ASSESSED ON M. MARTINEZ OF RIVERBANK

M. Martinez of Riverbank drew a fine of $500 after he pleaded guilty in the U. S. Federal Court at Sacramento, to a charge of unlawfully possessing intoxicating liquors. He was also charged with possessing a still but the jury acquitted him of this charge.

Cattle will be killed by electricity by the Cudahy Packing Company, of Omaha, Nebraska. This will replace the present system of clubbing the animals over the head.

The Gould seat on the New York Stock Exchange purchased thirty-nine years ago for $25,000 was sold recently for $85,000.

REGISTRATION IS AWAY BEHIND IN THIS DISTRICT

In all, 787 voters are residents of this section of the first supervisor district of Yolo County.

But to date only 194 have registered.

Constable Buckingham took up 130 of these registrations and the postmistress, Mrs. P. R. George, has taken up 64.

What is it that can possibly be tempting the people to refrain from taking a hand in the governof the country?

Surely it would be foolish for any voter to say, "I don't vote, I don't want to register because on many occasions I have voted with the majority and yet the minority manage affairs regardless of the will of the majority."

If a change is deemed necessary by any voter in things that he would change, the only way to accomplish it is to register and go to the polls.

ELECTION FOR FIRE TRUSTEES TO BE HELD MONDAY, APRIL 7

So far no avowed candidate for fire commissioner has appeared, although there is a vacancy on the board that must be filled.

Dave Barry and Ray Peek are the incumbent fire trustees, but the third member of the board, Wm. Bartle, has gone to Sparks, Nev., to make his permanent home.

Perhaps it would be wise to select some member of the volunteer fire department to fill the vacancy and likely that will be done before the day of the election rolls around, Monday, April 7.

PLAYGROUNDS OF CLARKSBURG ARE GRADED BY FARMERS

Clarksburg, March 24.—Every member of the Clarksburg Farm Center turned out as a unit last Saturday to attend the first Labor Day of the center. Armed with picks, shovels, scrapers and a couple of teams of mules, the farmers scraped and graded the playgrounds and yards of the new $75,000 Clarksburg grammar school under the direction of Harry Shepard, landscape gardener of the Davis University Farm. Walks were constructed and the school yard improved. Shrubs and trees were planted.

The only cost to the school district was that of supplying the trees and shrubs. The farmers plan to keep the school grounds in condition the year around.

A strange creature is the sucker fish which clings to larger fish and to hulls of vessels by means of "vacuum cups" at the back of its head, solely for the purpose of stealing a ride. It is found off the coast of Australia.

Statistics show there is one officer for every eleven soldiers in the United States Army at present.

Fines for false alarms

City officials announced this month that, beginning March 1, those responsible for more than two false police alarms within a year will accrue a false alarm fine.

The local police department responded to over 3,000 false alarms (over 99 percent of all alarm calls) last year, it reports.

Penalties for the third and fourth false alarms within a year are $200 each. With the fifth false alarm comes a $200 fine plus suspension of the alarm permit.

Reinstating a permit will cost $250.

If you or your alarm company cancel an alarm before a police officer arrives, the alarm won't count.

The City of West Sacramento has contacted with "Public Safety Corporation/Cry Wolf" to administer the permits and false alarm notifications.

For more information, go to the city website at www.cityofwestsacramento.org (go to "How do I" and then "Apply for" and "Alarm permit" or call 1-855-694-8281 to obtain an alarm permit or learn more.

Alarms without a permit may draw a $100 fine.

The property offered for sale excludes all funds held on account by the property receiver, if applicable. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. Notice to Potential Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call Auction.com at 800.280.2832 for information regarding the Trustee's Sale or visit the Internet Web site address on the previous page for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case, CA05001836-12-1. GO FIGURE! by Linda Thistle

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"Argo" (R) -- During the Iran hostage crisis of 1979, 52 Americans were taken captive, but six managed to avoid capture. CIA operative Tony Mendez (Ben Affleck) has to devise a scheme to rescue the six survivors hiding in the Canadian embassy. The plan: pretend Mendez is a Hollywood producer and the civilians are a movie crew scouting locations for a science-fiction movie. It's a true story too weird to doubt, even for the Iranian revolutionaries.

"Argo" has won a ton of awards and honors, including Oscar nominations for everything from editing to Best Picture. Affleck directed the movie, and gave it a '70s feel that is a welcome change of pace from contemporary thrillers. It's an intriguing narrative with peeks into American foreign policy and the big-headedness of Hollywood.

Keira Knightley in "Anna Karenina"

" Anna Karenina" (R) -- Based on the story by Russian author Leo Tolstoy, this adaptation takes a love affair and injects a new level of lush romanticism. Anna (Keira Knightley) is married to an frigid but well-seated government official (Jude Law) in St. Petersburg. She travels to Moscow to settle a dispute, and finds herself in a quandary of her own when she falls for a young army officer (Aaron Taylor-Johnson.)

It's such a saturated and elegant viewing experience that the screen practically drips. The drama and the passion is underscored by theatrical settings and visual flourishes. Whether or not the actual story pulls you in depends on your vulnerability to star-crossed lovers in elaborate costumes.

"Undefeated" (PG-13) -- This documentary follows the struggles of a Memphis high-school football team. In 2009, The Manassas Tigers were on a 110-year losing streak. Bill Courtney is a volunteer coach with the drive to take beaten-down team to their first win in a playoff game. It's moving to see a grown man spout sports cliches when you know he truly means them. While the coach is the focal point of the story, the film really sinks in because you get to feel for the players -- real inner-city kids hungry for a taste of success.

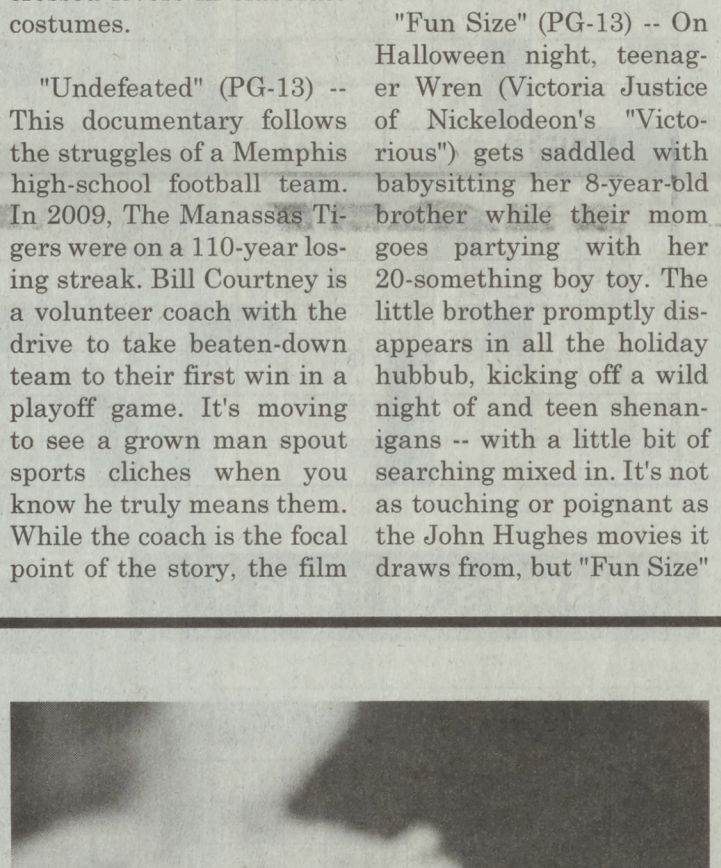
The Kitchen Diva BY Angela Shelf Medearis

Mix Up a Batch of Baking Mix

A simple way to enjoy baked goods and save money is to create your own make-at-home version of baking mixes. This recipe is similar to those that you can buy at the grocery store. Having this easy baking mix helps speed up the process when you want to make anything from biscuits to muffins to banana nut bread. It's a simple, five-ingredient recipe that you can make to have on hand when you are in a hurry.



To make 11 cups of mix you will need:
8 cups of flour (all purpose, whole-wheat or a combination of the two)
1/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon baking powder
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup nonfat dry milk powder
1 1/2 cups shortening

Combine the dry ingredients in a bowl. Sift to assure even distribution of the ingredients. Using a pastry blender, cut in shortening until the mix is the consistency of cornmeal.

Easy Baking Mix can be stored in an airtight container in a cool, dry location and will stay fresh for several months. If you would like to keep it longer, store it in the refrigerator or freezer. If you use whole-wheat flour, the mix must be stored in the refrigerator or freezer because there is more fat in whole-wheat flour, and it can become rancid at room temperature.

--To make biscuits, mix 2 cups of Easy Baking Mix with 1/2 to 2/3 cups of water. Use just enough water to make soft, nonsticky dough. Turn out onto a floured surface and knead about 10 times. Roll or pat out dough to 1/2-inch thickness. Cut out with a biscuit cutter and bake at 450 degrees F for 8-10 minutes or until lightly browned.

--To make muffins, use 2 cups Easy Baking Mix, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 egg, beaten, and 1 cup of water. Stir sugar into mix. In separate bowl, mix water and egg. Add liquid to dry ingredients and stir for 15 strokes or just until blended. A few lumps are OK. Bake in well-greased muffin tin at 400 F for 20 minutes for 10-12 medium muffins. For apple muffins, add 3/4 cup peeled, diced apples, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon and a dash of nutmeg.

--To use in your home recipes, use 1 1/2 cups of Easy Baking Mix for each cup of flour in the recipe. Leave out the leavening, salt, milk and fat in the recipe because they're already included in the mix -- a great shortcut for your favorite recipes!

but anything can be improved and be better. That's what I can contribute."

How well are the schools doing in standardized test scores?

"I know Bridgeway Island (Elementary School) did pretty good on the API and Southport was second," she answered. "The others came behind them. Test scores are important, but I'm focused on what's coming down the pipeline (from the state board of education)."

New curriculum standards and new tests are on their way, she said.

Fiscally, Gales thinks the district is in good shape.

And she said she would consider new charter schools on a "case by case" basis. What would it take for a new charter school to get her approval as a board member?

"You have to be productive, and you have to follow the requirements of the law, first and foremost," said Gales.

She was asked what kinds of challenges she sees in WUSD's future.

"I think the main thing sticking out in my mind is that it's very important for them to be diverse in their workforce," answered Gales. "All staff should closely mirror the national average. . . In West Sacramento, we may not have a really high level of ethnicity in one area or the other, but (students) should be exposed to at least the top three or four (ethnic groups) that most people are exposed to on a regular basis."

"I don't know that we have any African-American teachers."

Gales also said she wants to see better conflict-resolution in local schools.

"When my daughter went to school in New York for a year, they had a program set up," she explained. "It was called peer mock court or peer court, where the kids actually could go to court if they had a dispute or something. They could discuss the issue in front of a body of peers or administrators, to get to the core of a problem before a decision was made for discipline."

"I don't know if that's even done here, but it doesn't seem like they have any kind of structure set up to deal with discipline. A lot of times, it seems like it's just decided by the principal and teacher – I'm not sure, I really can't speak on it."

Gales was attracted to run in this race because the timing was right to become active in the community, she said. She saw news about the special election on Mayor Cabaldon's Facebook page. She hasn't, though, obtained endorsements from him or any of the school board or city council members.

But, as she added by email after the interview:

"What I have received is support from friends and family including, but not limited to, friends in the Sikh community and my church at the Calvary Christian Center."

the animals are not live-caught. They're killed by the traps.

"It's illegal to transport them," she said. "Nobody else wants them. They would just be somebody else's problem, and we are in an urban area. It's a delicate subject. I've had people ask me what happens to the beavers."

Kirtley said the animals can build aquatic lodges, but they also burrow into riverbanks – and "we think we found one of their nests." The trapping doesn't seem to be over.

The good news is that the downed trees will probably rise again.

"Once we think we've alleviated the beaver problem, we will remove the felled trees," said Kirtley. "We'll make a nice, clean cut below the damage, and the trees will re-sprout and we'll have new trees."

The total amount of the unpaid balance with interest thereon of the obligation secured by the property to be sold plus reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is $319,820.44. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on a property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 1-800-281-8219 or visit this Internet Web site www.recontrustco.com, using the file number assigned to this case TS No. 11-0132775.
